A "Meeting in a Box" for Celebrating the 75th Anniversary of Title V of the Social Security Act

Title V 2085

This activity can be done individually, in pairs, or in small groups.

The year is 2085, and you are celebrating the 150th anniversary of Title V of the Social Security Act! At the 75th anniversary celebration, you never could have imagined that the human life span would have extended so dramatically. But over the course of so many unexpected decades of life, you've learned not to be surprised by how much and how fast things change. Or, for that matter, how much they stay the same....

Use your imagination to describe the Title V program in the year 2085.

Transportation

How will people get around?

Health Care Access

Describe the settings where people will receive preventive, primary, and specialty health care services. How will people pay for services?

Communications

How will people receive health information? How will people communicate with providers? How will your agency/organization communicate with other organizations, policymakers, and the public?

Technology

Describe the data systems, scientific or clinical technology, and other as-yet unforeseen technological tools that will support the work of Title V in the future.

What else has changed since 2010? What has stayed the same?
