

The Office of Intergovernmental and External Affairs

The Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) is one of 11 agencies under the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). HRSA is the primary federal agency responsible for improving health outcomes and achieving health equity through access to quality services, a skilled health workforce, and innovative programs. HRSA's programs provide health care to people who are geographically isolated and economically or medically vulnerable.

The HRSA Office of Intergovernmental and External Affairs (HRSA IEA) serves as the principal Agency lead on intergovernmental and external affairs, regional operations, and tribal partnerships. HRSA IEA includes 10 regional offices, one sub-regional office in Puerto Rico, and its headquarters in Rockville, MD.

HRSA IEA serves as the HRSA ambassador and leader in conducting outreach to expand knowledge about HRSA's programs and priorities and increase access to care. HRSA IEA extends the reach of HRSA programs by leveraging knowledge of the national and regional landscape and established networks of contacts in states, tribes, and territories.

Serve as Ambassador and Liaison: Serve as a central point of contact and representative for HRSA and facilitate connections to HRSA and federal, state, local, tribal, territorial, and community partners.

Engage in Strategic Collaboration and Consultation: Create and broker relationships with partners to address needs, facilitate problem resolution, advance HRSA priorities, and leverage HRSA resources.

Provide Outreach and Education: Promote public health and health equity by expanding knowledge about HRSA's programs, resources, priorities, and related best practices.

Respond to Public Health Issues: Identify critical ground-level public health information about national, regional, state, local, tribal, and territorial trends to inform HRSA's operations, decision-making, and allocation of resources.
