GAO Report: National Health Service Corps Program Directs Funding to Areas with Greatest Provider Shortages

- Released June 1, 2021
- Reports that in 2020, 14,000 primary care providers participated in an NHSC program and that physicians, nurse practitioners, and licensed clinical social workers were the provider types that received the largest number of awards.
- Reports that 40% of applicants did not receive funding because their designated NHSC site’s degree of need was not high enough.
- Reports that these rejected applicants still provided care at sites in high need for primary care providers and would have been considered if more funding was available.
Maternity Care Target Areas

The Improving Access to Maternity Care Act passed in December 2019

• Requires HRSA to:

  - Identify areas with shortages of maternity care professionals (MCTAs) within existing Health Professional Shortage Areas (HPSAs)

  - Distribute maternity care health professionals in the National Health Service Corps using MCTA scores

  - Collect and publish data in the Federal Register comparing the availability and need of maternity care health services in HPSAs; and

  - Seek input from relevant provider organizations and other stakeholders.

• HRSA published an RFI in May 2020 to seek public comment on the criteria used for MCTA scoring. HRSA is currently reviewing responses and potential data sources to draft MCTA scoring criteria.
