Focusing Together on Health: NEON Pathways Community Hub

Northeast Oregon Network (NEON)
Liberty Avila, NEON Pathways Community Hub Manager
NEON Pathways Community Hub

- Launched in 2014
- Based on the national Pathways Hub model
- Currently partnering with 11 sites including hospitals, clinics, behavioral health providers, and a housing authority. A school district is also an emerging partner
- NEON provides both basic CHW certification training and continuing education in service area counties
- A Leadership Team with representation from sites has operational authority over the Hub
Service Area

- Population: 156,883
- 21,347 square miles
- High incidence of chronic conditions
- All counties experience a shortage of mental health providers
- Social isolation is a challenge
- All areas are served by critical access hospitals, but much of the specialty care available is in Washington or Idaho, with drive times of up to 3 hours one-way
CHW Roles

• Relationship and Trust Building
• Removing Barriers and Breaking Down Crisis Situations
• Providing Motivation and Education
• Health System and Social Service Navigation
• Increasing Community Connection
• Empowering Community Members to Manage Their Health
• Some roles are site-specific (for example, some sites allow CHWs to take blood pressure or attend doctor visits)
Reimbursement Model

- Sites are paid based on short-term outcomes and linkages, for example a community member attending a specialist appointment or getting SNAP
- Payments range from $150 for a medication assessment to $526.74 for Smoking Cessation (30 days)
- Payments are built based on estimates of wages, overhead, travel costs, and some profit for sites
- Month-to-month payments can be highly variable and costs vary widely across sites – NEON does not ask sites to disclose costs
Sustainability

• To date, the program has been fully grant funded, with the majority of funding coming from federal grants.

• The original goal of the program was to gain insurance payer support, similar to model programs in the Midwest.

• While this is still a goal, additional sustainability strategies are training and coaching for CHWs and consulting for other CHW programs.
Working with Behavioral Health

• Connection with Behavioral Health was always a part of the model and a payable linkage, but NEON added new behavioral health providers as CHW sites starting in 2018.

• Currently, NEON contracts with 2 behavioral health organizations (3 sites total) and one county Human Services department which focuses and alcohol and drug treatment.

• These sites utilize both CHWs and Peer Support Specialists.
Unique Challenges

• CHWs need extra support and training, as community members these organizations serve have unique needs and challenges.

• Often, behavioral health providers encounter individuals prior to engagement with physical health, which can make it difficult to gather health outcomes data.

• Community members more often engage and then disengage, which can impact both CHW operations and data collection.
Lessons Learned

• Engage potential payers in the planning stage
• Ensure that the program meets needs by engaging representation from partners throughout planning and operation
• Asking for less data from CHWs will yield higher quality – simplify things where possible to reduce double documentation
• Remember that tech-savviness is not the most important qualification for CHWs – make things user friendly
Thank You!
